

SUPER CADETS

Bernie Fraser

Make a difference in Super

- 15-20 positions (predominantly Melbourne based)
- One year Cadetship
- Would suit organisers and workplace delegates interested in super

Compulsory super has been the single most important factor mitigating wealth inequality in Australia in the past 15 years.

The inaugural Super Cadets program is looking for the next generation of leaders in the $100 billion not-for-profit sector of the superannuation industry. Super Cadets is supported by the ACTU and unions.

We are looking for idealistic, motivated candidates who wish to contribute to improving the quality of retirement incomes for working Australians, and who share the values of not-for-profit industry and public sector super funds.

Cadets will be employed by a participating super fund in addition to 4 weeks off-the-job training and a 6 week placement with a union or employer association.

Positions will include marketing, communications, client services, investment and policy/research.

Super Cadets offers a competitive salary and excellent working conditions. The cadetships will commence in February 2004. Applications will close on 7 November 2003.

Applications from union organisers and workplace delegates with an interest in super will be particularly well regarded.
